Straubing, Germany (May 2004): A select group of Canadian pro audio and musical instrument dealers recently flew to the picturesque region of Bavaria, Germany for the 2004 Telex Communications Academy. The four-day program of seminars, socializing and sightseeing was based at and around Telex Communications Inc.'s European headquarters and manufacturing facility in Straubing, Bavaria. The tour was hosted by Franck Fabry (Director, Americas Export Sales) and Gale Remarcik (Export Sales) from Telex Communications in the US, along with their Canadian sales representatives Gilles Elhadad, Greg Hansen and Mark Kulas.

Telex Communications Inc. President Mathias von Heydekampf welcomed the guests to Straubing with a personal tour of the complex. Day two was all about education – a high priority throughout the Telex Communications organization – featuring presentations on numerous cutting-edge technologies from across the Telex Communications family of brands, including EV SxA360 and Plasma powered loudspeakers, EV and Dynacord amplifiers, Dynacord Madras powered speakers, EV wireless mic's, the Midas Verona console, Dynacord PowerMate consoles, Klark Teknik products, and the mighty Dynacord alpha concept club loudspeaker system.

At Lunch (L-R): Francois Ranger (Sonorisation Ranger), Jacques Lambert (Le Groupe SPL), Francois Jomphe (Solotech), Dominic Galien (APL Son & Lumiere), Pierre Beaupre (Le Groupe A1), Gilles Elhadad (Acoustik GE)

After a dutiful day spent in the Pro Audio Academy, it was time to head out from Straubing for some action, Bavarian style. First stop was nearby Teisnach, where the group relaxed and raced high-speed go-karts. The party then spent two days traveling around some of Bavaria's most famous landscapes and landmarks, including Neuschwanstein Castle and Zugspitze (Germany's highest mountain), expeditions fuelled by hearty German hospitality and fine cuisine, not to mention plenty of world-class local beers.

Upon returning to Telex Communications Worldwide Headquarters in Burnsville, Minnesota, Franck Fabry commented: "Gayle, Gilles, Greg, Mark and I are still talking about the great time we spent with all our Canadian friends in Germany. Some of this year's Telex Academy events will be hard to forget: The Go-Kart racing night, the 10-minute (!) climb to Neuschwanstein, the Bavarian Olympics, Garmisch's crazy disco and bar scene, the Zugspitze cable car ride, and the beautiful countryside of the Bavarian Alps. What an Academy! Never again will I believe the old adage, 'you can't mix business with pleasure!'”
